Privacy Policy

Thank you for visiting the Repro-Med Systems, Inc., web site and reviewing our privacy policy. We collect no personally identifiable information when you visit our web site unless you specifically and knowingly provide that information to us. Examples of personal information include your name, e-mail address, postal mailing address, phone number, or other information that identifies you personally.

We do not place permanent cookies on computers connected to our web site. However, our server(s) may record the IP address of your computer as part of normal functioning. (An IP address is a code that is automatically assigned to your computer when you are using the Internet.) An IP address and information transmitted automatically by your browser may allow us to determine: the type of browser and operating system used to access our site; the date and time of access to our site; the Internet address of the website from which there was direct linkage to our site; the individual pages visited; other data.

We do not compile and subsequently rent out or sell personal information as mailing lists. We also do not give, sell or transfer personal information to third parties, unless it is required during the normal conduct of company business operations.

Your comments, questions, and suggestions are extremely important to us. You may contact us by using the telephone numbers, mailing addresses, and e-mail addresses provided on the web site.

If you choose to transmit or receive personal information electronically, you should be aware that we cannot guarantee confidentiality or security across the Internet. If your communication contains very sensitive information, you may want to send it by postal mail instead of using e-mail.
